ENGINEERS WIN PAY FIGHT

ISSUE SUBPOENA TO INSULL TODAY IN FUND INQUIRY

Will Be Told to Hold Himself Ready.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., June 30.—(Special.)—Senator Samuel Insull, Chicago utility magnate, who is charged with having been behind the $100,000,000 fund for the relief of the unemployed, is expected to be subpoenaed today in a fund inquiry.

SAMUEL INSULL.

Insull will not be the first witness to be subpoenaed in the inquiry into the fund. The first witness to be subpoenaed was the late Senator William D. Dyer, who died in 1915.

Insull's subpoena follows charges made in the Senate last Saturday by Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, that Insull had been behind the fund.

DURKIN CALM AFTER MURDER, WITNESS SAYS

State Closes Today; Defense Begins.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK
A young automobile mechanic yesterday afternoon took the witness stand in the murder trial of Martin J. Durkin and recounted in vivid style what Durkin said to him less than an hour after he (Durkin) had killed Federal Agent Edwin C. Shanahan in a garage at 6231 Princeton avenue.

It was a Sunday evening, Oct. 11, 1925. The automobile mechanic was Andrew Cserp. He was a bridegroom of a day. He had spent hours of that Sunday working on Durkin's car—a car which Cserp did not know Durkin had stolen.

Invites Durkin to Supper.
The work Cserp did on Durkin's car was not done in the garage in which the slaying occurred and Cserp then knew nothing of the crime. But he had seen Durkin earlier in the day and on his way home they met again. Cserp asked Durkin to go home to supper with him. Thus it came about that Durkin, fresh from the murder of Shanahan, grew confidential with his bridegroom-host and even called for a razor with which to shave off his mustache.

That Confidential Chat.
It was this confidential chat with Durkin which Cserp related yesterday afternoon in Judge Harry E. Miller's court. And this piece of testimony freighted with important details and interspersed with unconscious humor, became by far the most significant evidence yet developed by the state which this morning closes its case.

The defense will open with Durkin's mother, sister, and three other witnesses. Durkin will take the stand late this afternoon or early tomorrow.

What Durkin Said to Him.
The high point of Cserp's story, and it was when he said Durkin put an arm about him and explained.

"You're a damned good kid and I'm gonna tell you something for your own good. There's a rat (Durkin here referred to a man named Harold George, who revealed him as an automobile thief) I brought up from New Mexico and I done him a world of good, and when he gets here he tries to steal my clothes, and Ward, that's Betty's uncle, stops him, and tonight he comes to my door and when the rat saw me he started to run away."

Says He Plugged Detective.
"Well, I didn't want to run after the rat, so I got in my car and went to the garage to get some water, and all of a sudden a dick (referring to Shanahan) walks up to me and stuck a gun in my stomach and says, 'I got you, come along. Don't make no move or I'll kill you.'"

"I had a roll; I owed $800 on the car, and I didn't want to get caught, so I says, 'Wait a minute, wait a minute.' I fumbled around and I got a gun and I plugged him. He fell over and emptied his whole gun at me and missed me every shot."

French Foil Plot to Kill Spanish King

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, June 30.—Two of the most dangerous anarchists of Spain are under lock and key in Paris tonight and the secret police are scouring France for three others, all charged with a plot to assassinate King Alfonso XIII. of Spain.

With the king and his queen safely bundled on a train en route to London, under the anxious eyes of scores of police, the secret service revealed that its operatives scouted a plot to kill the jovial monarch twenty-four hours before the ruler's arrival in Paris last Friday.

The plot was revealed by the arrest of Abadía Francisco Ascaso, or Ascaro, as he is also known, who is already charged with the murder of Cardinal Soldevila y Romero, archbishop of Saragossa, in June, 1923, and Bonaventura Durruti, who is also credited with a bad record.

Had Three Rifles.
In their rooms in a handsome private home on the Rue Legendre, where the pair posed as Argentine tourists, the police found three rifles and 250 cartridges. Revolvers were found on the persons of the two plotters when arrested on the Avenue de Clichy in the Montmartre.

Ascaso, once in jail, confessed everything, the police say.
"We have been in Paris for a month and a half with the avowed purpose of killing the king of Spain," said the 24-year-old anarchist without a quiver of an eyelash. "We bought an automobile, intending to drive first to the station on the Paris and Orleans railway line, outside of Paris, where the royal train, en route from Madrid Saturday night, would have stopped. There, when the train halted at the station, we intended to take the most careful aim and pick off Alfonso, either with rifle shots or with fusillades from our revolvers. If we failed there, we would have tried to get him at Paris, either at his hotel or at the races."

Doubled Watch Over King.
Despite the arrest of the two ring-leaders, the police doubled their watch over the king while in Paris. Extreme precautions were taken this noon when the royal pair left on a special train. The king and queen went by a roundabout route and separately from the Hotel Maurice to the station. The train pulled out an hour ahead of time. King Alfonso, though fully aware of the plot, smoked calmly, and the queen smiled and thanked Premier Raymond Poincaré for the big bunch of red roses.

Arrert More Revolt Leaders.
According to reports published here tonight, the Spanish directorate is continuing vigorously to track down the conspirators implicated in the abortive revolt last week. Melquiades Alvarez, chief of the Reformist party and former president of the constituent cortes, said to have been arrested today. Comte de Romanones, chief of the Lib-

PUT CARTRIDGES ON CAR TRACKS; BOY OF 4 IS KILLED
Boys placing 45 caliber cartridges on the street car tracks were believed by the police last night to have been responsible for the death of a 4-year-old Andrew Mandin of 540 Blue Island avenue, who was killed while playing on the street Tuesday night.

Andrew was first believed to have been killed by a stone violently thrown by the wheel of a passing automobile, but a post mortem examination of the body revealed a jagged .45 caliber bullet in the heart.

There were reports also that two rival gangs of gunmen had fired on each other as they passed the spot in automobiles, but while the police were unable to verify such reports, they learned that boys playing near by had been placing the cartridges on the tracks to be exploded by the cars.

Nye Is Behind But Expected to Make Gains

BULLETIN.
Fargo, N. D., July 1 (11 a. m.).—(AP)—With 274 precincts reported out of 3,167, Hanna had a lead of 4,862 over Nye in the race for the long term Republican senatorial nomination. The figures gave Hanna 16,538; Midbo, 274; Nye, 11,676; Stone, 2,533. Although Hanna had a substantial majority from precincts so far reported, Nye showed surprising strength in some normally independent strongholds and may overcome Hanna's lead when returns from the western districts are received.

Fargo, N. D., June 30.—(AP)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, running for both short and long terms for senator in today's election in North Dakota, was running behind on first returns tabulated tonight. L. B. Hanna, independent or Coolidge candidate, who seeks the Republican nomination from Nye, held the lead in both counts.

The initial figures, however, came from the cities, which always have been conceded as Republican strongholds. Strength of the nonpartisan league, which supported Nye, lies mainly in the rural districts, which always report late.

In the special senatorial election for the term ending March 3, 253 precincts gave Hanna 13,117; Nye, 10,567; Stone, 2,741.

The gubernatorial contest, with 317 precincts reported, showed J. M. Hanley (Ind.), 16,636; McGovern, 804; Gov. A. G. Sortle (Nonpartisan, incumbent), 13,545.

Congressman Thomas Hall, Coolidge incumbent, had a substantial lead over Fred Graham, nonpartisan, for the Republican congressional nomination in the Second district.

L. H. ARMOUR IN HOSPITAL NEAR J. J. MITCHELL
John J. Mitchell, wealthy banker, ill at St. Luke's hospital, was reported at 2:30 o'clock this morning as doing well. In some quarters, however, it was said Mr. Mitchell, who underwent an operation for infected gall bladder on Monday, was not gaining as rapidly as was hoped.

Meanwhile, it became known that Laurence H. Armour, vice president of Armour & Co., packers, and a distant relative by marriage of Mr. Mitchell, was suffering from stomach trouble in a room adjoining the banker's, at St. Luke's.

Last night, hospital authorities said the packer, who is a nephew of J. Ogden Armour, was greatly improved and in no immediate danger.

Since he was taken to the hospital from his summer home at Lake Geneva late Saturday night, Mr. Mitchell has been allowed no visitors except the members of his immediate family.

This includes his wife and son, John J. Mitchell Jr., and the latter's wife. An exception has been made at times when the banker was slightly improved to allow him to talk to his friend of many years, J. Ogden Armour, who visits his cousin in the next room often.

COUNCIL VOTES INCREASE AFTER LONG DEADLOCK

Turn Clock Back at Budget Session.

BULLETIN.
Following a secret session of an hour and a half the council finance committee reported to the council at 3:45 o'clock this morning that it had agreed to slice $75,000 from various items in the supplementary budget in order to pay the $60,000 increase in salaries demanded by the striking engineers and to increase salaries of a few clerks who are inadequately paid. The council immediately passed the budget and adjourned. Mayor Dever assured James Gilboy, business agent for the engineers, that they would get their pay increase, and Gilboy said the strikers would be back at their desks this morning.

Following a 12-hour session, during which the city council chamber often resembled the wheat pit at its wildest, the council at 3 a. m. this morning still stood deadlocked on the question of granting the pay increases demanded by the 573 striking city engineers.

Old timers in the council declared it was the most critical deadlock in the council's history. Both sides said there would be no surrender and neither side showed any disposition to adjourn. The only item passed was one appropriating $62,000 for beginning work on the river straightening. This action was in response to a special plea of Mayor Dever and the item was passed by a vote of 35 to 2.

Raise Tacked on Budget Bill.
From the first vote to the ballot taken at midnight the body stood 32 to 13 for granting the demands of the striking engineers.

Thus the favoring aldermen, led by Oscar F. Nelson (46th), lacked the two votes necessary to pass the supplemental budget on which they wished to have this appropriation tacked. A three-quarter vote is required.

At midnight the clock was turned back to 11:30, thus to remain until the debating should have subsided. At that hour it seemed certain that the whole budget eventually would pass.

Budget in Three Sections.
The budget as presented for passage was in three sections. The first of these contained appropriations of $3,700,000 for the construction of new fire stations, several important bridges, new city lights, and for the widening of several important thoroughfares.

The second was for $500,000 in water certificates for the water department. It was on the third section that the fighting centered—appropriations for the corporate fund of $500,000, including additional Wacker drive expenditures and several other projects. It was to this that the proponents of the pay increase for the engineers wanted tacked the $60,000 necessary to meet the increases until Jan. 1 next.

The thirteen aldermen who had stood all day so staunchly for the measure were all colleagues of Chairman Ald. Ross Woodhull of the finance committee. These took the position that the city simply did not have the money, that they didn't see where it was coming from, and that they therefore were compelled to stand out against the increases.

Midnight Effort Is Failure.
Just before midnight a final effort to pass the budget with the necessary $60,000 tacked away in it somewhere had been made by the proponents for the strikers. They had asked the finance committee to go into a secret session to see if it could not be done and the finance committee had gone into that session only to return after twenty minutes and report that it could not be done.

troubles since I got married, an awful lot." Somebody murmured something about the first year being the hardest, and the witness, beseeching the court, room to heed him, said:

"Well, I want to tell you that anybody will get into trouble who gets mixed up in a murder trial like this the day after he gets married."

McGarry Turns on Witness. Mr. McGarry suggested that the witness could get into trouble if he "kept on telling stories such as this." Assistant State's Attorney Louis Blumenthal and Michael Romano, in charge of the prosecution, asked that the remark be stricken out. Attorney Roland Libonati of defense counsel put in a word.

While hot words were being tossed about, the court ruled that all the remarks be retained in order, he pointed out, to "let the Supreme court see how the counsel have conducted themselves in this trial."

A few moments later there was another lively interlude. This time the spectators took part. Mr. McGarry was asking Cserép if he hadn't remarked to Durkin, as the latter shaved off his mustache:

"Golly, why do you do that? I'd give $100 for a mustache like that." Cserép, zealous to correct the attorney, announced, so seriously, "No, sir, I said I'd give $20 for it."

As the crowd laughed, and the balliffs rapped for order, Attorney Blumenthal registered his quiet protest:

"I don't object to the laughs, your honor, but this is a murder trial."

Tells Further Details.
Cserép, who lives at 11535 Eggleston avenue, recalled that another auto mechanic, Bliss Jenkins, picked him up at his home at 8:30 that Sunday morning and took him ultimately to a garage at 517 Englewood avenue, where he worked until five in the afternoon repairing a Packard sedan with a California license. The man who owned the car, said, "Call me Marty," and yesterday was identified by Cserép as Durkin.

At the end of the day's work Durkin bought the two men some lunch, paid them with a new suit and overcoat, which he said he didn't want, and Jenkins took Cserép home. An hour or so later, Jenkins told him to come along and get a stuffed car. At the corner of 7th street and Love avenue they heard a whistle. Cserép started the court fans by giving a shrill imitation of the whistle. There they picked up Durkin, Cserép said, and, after riding around a few blocks, he (Cserép) wanted to return to his bride for some cigars, and begged Durkin to "square things with the wife."

"As soon as Durkin came in," Cserép declared, "he asked if I'd do him a favor and I said I would, if it wasn't to borrow money. So he asked me for a razor to shave off his mustache. I got him the razor and showed him to the bathroom! He mixed up some auds and shaved off the mustache. When I said, 'Golly, why do you do that?' he put his arm around me and said, 'You're a damned good kid, so I'm gonna tell you.'"

Then followed the alleged conversation about the shooting.

"There was considerable bickering, across the table, between counsel over Cserép's testimony at the inquest that Durkin had told him Shanahan had revealed his badge in the garage."

"Since that inquest," the witness explained, "I've had a lot of trouble and I can't remember now that Durkin said that to me. As long as I can't remember it, I'm not going to tell it."

Tells of Durkin Capture.

Of the ten witnesses who yesterday testified for the state, Cserép's runner up, in point of drama, was Edward J. Dowd, special agent for the United States department of justice, who captured Durkin in the drawing room of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad flyer as it stopped at Webster Grove, Mo., on its way to St. Louis, the 20th of last January.

"I knocked on the drawing room door," Agent Dowd said, "and said, 'Pardon me, I'm looking for a friend named James.' Durkin said, 'No, I'm Valentine.'"

"I said, 'Like hell, you're Valentine. You're Marty Durkin. I'm a federal officer and I want you.'"

"Durkin said, 'Well, I'm an American citizen and I don't give a damn who you are; I don't want to be molested.'"

The federal agent then jumped his man, two St. Louis police officers came in, and when the search was over they had discovered a .32 caliber automatic in Durkin's overcoat pocket, a .45 caliber in his handbag, and an ammunition belt with thirty-five rounds of .45 cartridges. In commenting on them Durkin, according to Dowd, said:

"Sure, I'm Durkin. You birds caught me napping. If I'd had a gun when you caught me we'd have had a merry time here. I wanted to be prepared. I expected trouble at the Union station; that's why I had those guns."

Defense Starts Today.
Among the other witnesses of the day were two who will connect importantly with a motion which Attorney McGarry will make this morning as soon as the state rests its case.

One was Clarence Ward, 225 Englewood avenue, an uncle of Betty Andrews Werner, former sweetheart of Durkin, who testified against him, and who, by the way, was yesterday reported to be ill.

The other was Detective Sergeant Michael Naughton, who left Shanahan in the garage to go to the police station just a few minutes before the shooting took place. Both these witnesses brought in the name of Harlow George. It was George who was characterized by Durkin, in the testimony of Cserép, as "the rat I brought with me from New Mexico."

Ward told how George, his wife and baby arrived with Durkin and Betty Oct. 7, and attempted, the next day, to walk away with some of Durkin's clothes.

George Informs Police.
Sergeant Naughton told how George had tipped off the police Oct. 16 to where to locate Durkin, and had furnished the data on which they laid their trap in the garage.

Sergeant Naughton, on cross examination, admitted that he hadn't seen George for some two weeks and doesn't know where he is now. A question by the defense attorney as to whether the police hadn't ordered him out of town, because he wouldn't change his original statements, was blocked by the state's objection.

So this morning Attorney McGarry plans to make a motion declaring that since, in his contention, George has been "scared out of town," and cannot now be found, the court will allow the jury to hear George's testimony at the time of the inquest, when he declared he was an eye-witness of the shooting, and that Shanahan fired the first shot.

In addition to the important legal events of yesterday, there were plenty of incidental happenings.

Shocks Shanahan's Relative.
In a corner Paul O'Brien, a spectator, turned to his companion and said, "Durkin 'll never hang." Standing next to him, on the other side, was Mrs. Edward Shanahan, an aunt of the man whom Durkin killed. She called a bluff, the three went out in the hall, and Mrs. Shanahan had O'Brien taken before Assistant State's Attorney William Rittenhouse. Mr. O'Brien finally left the building, after having apologized to Mrs. Shanahan, whose identity he said he had not known.

POISON VICTIM RECOVERING.
Mrs. Rose Kasatka, 23 years old, 2711 59th avenue, Cicero, is recovering in St. Anne's hospital from the effects of a poison which she drank Tuesday after a quarrel with her husband William in their home.

CONVENTION OF
MOOSE OPENS
THIS MORNINGExpect 150,000 Members to Attend.

Delegates and visitors to the thirty-third annual convention of the Loyal Order of Moose poured into the city yesterday and last night. The number expected for the opening of the convention today is estimated at 150,000.

This morning at the Auditorium the Mayor Dever will deliver the official greetings of the city, with Gov. Deneen speaking for the state. Congressman Henry R. Rathbone will preside over the opening ceremonies, which will be followed by the presentation of the list of official delegates, which will be read by Dr. William J. Deneen, secretary of the convention committee, and James J. Davis, secretary of the Moose.

Other national delegates have followed the lead of the Moose in their program of caring for their dependents. The secretary said, and added that if all needed through their present plans they would eventually relieve state governments of the necessity of caring for their orphans, widows and aged.

The presentation of delegates and the opening of the Moose to Mooseheart, which will bring almost 200,000 people there, it was estimated yesterday. To see the work being done there and the development of the children is one of the great purposes of the convention, Mr. Davis said. If those of the 150,000 members of the order who are at the convention can carry a report back to their home bodies of the program there, the convention will have justified its existence, he said.

Ceremony in Grant Park.
Beginning at 2 p. m. today, and to be repeated twice daily each of the five days of the meeting, a spectacle, "The Birth of Chicago," featuring several hundred Indians, will be presented at Grant park. Brothers' court to the $50,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Hazel Shelley, 25 years old, 1546 Sherwin avenue, pretty blonde, whose eyes filled with tears as she told how her heart had been broken by Leo W. Wheeler, 52 years old, a manufacturer with offices at 135 South State street.

But the brief statement introduced in evidence, which was signed by Miss Shelley a year ago in return for a payment of $500, nullified her whole story, the judge ruled. Suspicious of the susceptibilities of the jury which listened to Miss Shelley's story, he refused to allow the jurors to consider the case and instructed a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The document which lost Miss Shelley her case was drawn up by Wheeler, who is also a lawyer. For the sum of $500 she agreed to relinquish any claims she might have upon the manufacturer.

"But I thought he was giving me the money for a vacation in California," she protested. "And he said the document had something to do with the lease upon a hotel apartment he provided for me."

"You read the document twice," replied the judge. "And you must have realized its import."

Much of the testimony kept a crowd of courtroom in laughter. Wheeler and Miss Shelley testified that they had their first quarrel over the question of who should pour the coffee when they dined together.

"He was so sweet to me at first," the woman told the jury. "He always put the sugar in my coffee. He bought me clothes and took me everywhere."

AID TO MISSIONS

Methodists Thrill to Story of Calcutta Bishop.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

One of the most dramatic scenes ever enacted in a Methodist gathering took place yesterday afternoon at the Chicago Temple, Clark and Washington streets. It came at the closing meeting of the world service commission, which adjourned after two days' conference on crises in home and foreign missions.

The speaker was Bishop Fred B. Fisher of Calcutta, India. He made a passionate plea for men and women willing to lay down their lives, if need be, for the world's redemption.

Tells of Preacher's Bravery.

The bishop described how an Indian Christian savior, a holy man, had declared there could not be found a white man or woman who would willingly lay down his or her life for brown people. The bishop reached his climax by telling how a missionary of Calcutta had nursed certain Indians, stricken with small pox, and had died. "I was turned into a grave digger," exclaimed Bishop Fisher, "and I helped to bury him with my own hands. I then telegraphed the sad news. I have found your man who has died trying to save your brown people."

Then Bishop Fisher turned evangelist and invited the more than twenty bishops to gather at the altar, call of the church and "rededicate their lives to the salvation of the world." When the bishops had dropped to their knees all the officials of the world service commission, prominent business men, followed by all the ministers, came forward until hundreds were on their knees declaring themselves willing to offer their money and their lives to carry the gospel to the ends of the earth.

Describes Liberal Layman.

Bishop E. H. Hughes of Chicago, in speaking of the death of a layman of California, Rolla V. Watt, who was a member of the world service commission, said Mr. Watt had authorized him, when not personally present, to subscribe for him on all benevolent enterprises of the church, hospitals, children's homes, new churches, and similar kinds of work, whatever the bishop thought he ought to give.

"For six years I made those subscriptions in the name of Mr. Watt," Bishop Hughes said. Thereupon George W. Dixon, being called forward as representing the Chicago temple, where the meeting was in session, announced to Bishop Hughes he would authorize him to draw on him in the same way he had formerly drawn on Mr. Watt.

Strong for Dry Law.

All day the addresses were on the needs of China, India, the mining and home mission fields in America, but the final official act was unanimously voted to uphold the 18th amendment and the Volstead law. There were no speeches on the subject, but it was declared the purpose of the resolution was to make sure the position of the church was made a matter of record.

The findings committee reported in favor of reaching the last person in the church and for this purpose to hold a fall convention in every area of the church to promote missionary education.

A resolution was approved which, if there is an increase in general offerings, will give preferential money to foreign missions and the board of temperance, prohibition.

GERMANY OFFERS TO HELP FRANCE RESTORE FRANC

Wants Rhine Army Cut as a Return Favor.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, June 30.—British financial circles are keenly interested in a report from Berlin stating Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German reichsbank, has decided to offer his support to Joseph Caillaux, finance minister of France, in an effort to stabilize the franc.

THE TRIBUNE is informed on reliable authority that Dr. Schacht's offer is based on his ability to check any speculative bearish attacks against the franc on the Berlin stock exchange as well as other continental exchange markets.

Wants Rhine Army Cut.

The reichsbank would give this support for a period of at least six weeks and probably two months. The French government, in return, is to consent to the reduction of the army of occupation on the Rhine by one-half immediately, with a complete evacuation after six months. This information bears out the general British view regarding the growth of common Franco-German economic interests.

The German ambassador in Paris is considered here as the leading diplomatic influence in France, while the French banks have begun to work in close unity with Berlin financiers.

Helps France in Abyssinia.

The proposed evacuation of the Rhineland is seen here as closely connected with a drastic plan for the reduction of the French army, which British experts believe can be reduced by twenty to thirty-two divisions, with the service limit cut to the maximum in twelve months.

Diplomatic circles point out another sign of Franco-German cooperation in Germany's inclination to intervene in the question of spheres of influence in Abyssinia, as established in the last Anglo-Italian exchange of notes. The French are reported as dissatisfied with the arrangement, but unable to protest because they have no desire to quarrel with London or Rome, but Germany is not bound by such consideration.

U. S. Falls to Satisfy Caillaux.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, June 30.—Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux received a cable from Washington tonight giving unofficial assurance that the United States will never apply Article 7 of the Berenger accord for the settlement of France's debt to the U. S. The article provides for the mobilization of the debt and issuance of bonds for public sale at America's discretion. The cablegram was signed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. M. Caillaux replied that this assurance is insufficient and Article 7 must be eliminated from the agreement.

The experts' committee, named by former Finance Minister Raoul Peret last month, today recommended establishing the franc at between 25 to 40 to the dollar. The report admits the impossibility of further strengthening the franc through artificial means. The franc fell almost a full point against the dollar today, once closely approximating thirty-six.

LONDON, June 30.—Nicholas Llewellyn Davies, youngest of the four adopted sons of Sir James Barrie, author of "Peter Pan," was married yesterday to Mary Beatrice James, daughter of Lord and Lady Northbourne. The bridegroom's brother, Peter Davies, who was the original "Peter Pan," acted as best man.

to be addressed by volunteer and unpaid speakers and circulating the district or state, as the case may be, with literature which it supplies itself.

Unlike the Anti-Saloon league, Mr. Stayton's testimony developed, every state subsidiary as well as the national headquarters of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment files quarterly statements of their receipts and expenditures with the clerk of the house of representatives.

Active in Pennsylvania.
Carrying the contrast further, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, according to Mr. Stayton, does not hire congressmen to make "wet" speeches, nor does it pay any of the speakers sent out under its auspices.

"To what extent do you attempt to control primaries or elections?" asked Senator King.

"To as great an extent as we can," answered Stayton.

"What, if any, part did your organization play in the Pennsylvania primary?" was Senator King's next question.

"We got up a form letter supporting Vare and mailed it to our 30,000 members in Pennsylvania," said Stayton,

"and during the campaign we sent out two other letters, one asking for money to spend in Pennsylvania and elsewhere."

Spent Little in Pennsylvania.

The cost of meetings, he said, was supplied to the Pennsylvania branch by the national headquarters. He said contributions received from Pennsylvania by the national headquarters were returned to the state association.

"Did you have any watchers or canvassers at the polls?" asked Senator King.

"We did not," was Stayton's prompt answer.

"Is your organization getting ready for the election in Pennsylvania?" asked Senator King.

"We are doing only the routine work," asserted Stayton. "We don't feel we have to spend much money in Pennsylvania and so can keep the money for less fertile fields."

Includes All Classes.

"What class of people join your organization, anyway?" asked Senator King.

"Well, senator," replied Stayton, "I think the association is a fair cross section of our people as a whole. It includes bankers, railroad presidents, lawyers, and common laborers—everybody from workingmen to employers."

"I addressed a meeting the other night in Delaware and down in front were two members of the Du Pont family and at their side was a fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad."

"Are brewers or distillers, or rather, former brewers or distillers, among your members?" asked Senator King.

"I am glad you asked that," said Stayton. "One of the first rules we made when organizing was that any person who had formerly made a livelihood in the liquor business was not to be eligible to voting membership."

Annual Income $40,000.

"Then it dawned on me that just such an investigation as this might come along some day and I would be asked that very question you have asked. And I concluded that if I told of that rule, half of the country would think I was foolish and the other half would think I was a liar. So we decided to accept not more than 5 per cent of our income from persons formerly engaged in the liquor traffic in any way and I doubt that our revenue today from such people exceeds 3 per cent of the total."

The aggregate annual income of the national and various state organizations was placed at approximately $40,000 by Mr. Stayton, who agreed to present the committee with detailed statements of the receipts and expenditures of the parent and subsidiary groups and allow the committee's expert to verify the report that is deemed necessary.

Gallatin Gateway The New Way into YELLOWSTONE

Take the trail while it is new! The Gallatin Gateway opens into Yellowstone Park through the rugged Gallatin Canyon—the only direct entrance from the main line of a transcontinental railroad! No branch line travel!

Starting Aug. 1st, Yellowstone Park motor coaches will meet Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul trains at Three Forks, Montana, in the electrified zone. Passengers will be carried through the rich Gallatin Valley, hemmed in by the Madison and Gallatin mountain ranges—cathedral-like peaks rising to a height of over 11,000 feet—winding over the trail of the Covered Wagon. Up the canyon of the Gallatin River to an elevation of 7,000 feet, where the trail crosses into Yellowstone Park.

The tour of the Park is the same as from all other entrances and the cost is no higher. But this trip takes you through country few travelers have ever seen. And August is Yellowstone's most beautiful month.

If you wish to stop over, step from the famous "Olympian" directly into a Yellowstone motor coach, and return after your tour. The route to Puget Sound is the shortest from Chicago. Through the mountains it carries open-air observation cars and passes over 650 miles of electrified railroad—smooth, cinderless, clean, luxurious travel.

CITY WINS FIRST ROUND OF GAS RATE LITIGATION

$10,000,000 Refund Is Seen Far Away.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city won each of the twelve decisions of law yesterday in its 18-year rate litigation with the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company by a decision of Judge O. M. Tarrison in the Circuit court. Judge Tarrison ruled that gas users are entitled to recover any amount in excess of a just and reasonable rate between 1911 and 1917, the years which produced the controversy.

It is in fairness to gas consumers, says Tribune readers, it should be pointed out that a refund on gas bills is several years distant, if it is ordered at all. Attorney George A. Cooke for the gas company said after the ruling that he is confident that the courts will not order a refund and, if they do, no money will be paid back to gas users.

Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the city in gas matters since 1915, and Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch issued statements indicating their opinion of an ultimate victory of the city over the corporation. The amount involved is roughly estimated by the city at $10,000,000.

The source of the litigation dates back to 1908 when the legislature conferred on Chicago the power to fix gas rates for five-year periods, subject to a review of its action by the Circuit court, if the rates so established were alleged to be unfair.

The city fixed a rate which was accepted by the company. Then the question of rates became a leading political issue and former Alderman Herman Bauer in his candidacy for reelection fathered the Seventy-Cent Gas league. The city council after a short investigation passed a second ordinance in July, 1911, fixing the gas rates at 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the succeeding year, at 70 cents for the second and third years and at 65 cents for the fourth and fifth years.

Company Obtains Injunction. The company petitioned for and obtained an injunction against the enforcement of those rates. The writ was granted, the city contends, on two conditions, that the company would not charge more than 80 cents and that the company would "refund the difference between the 80 cent rate and the ordinance rates, if the court should find that the ordinance rates were just and reasonable."

Upon the conditions of that injunction depends whether there will be a rebate of any description. Since the litigation was started the state Supreme court in the Sutter case in 1915 declared that the law under which the city was given the power to fix rates is unconstitutional and void. It follows necessarily that the city cannot hope to establish as legally binding the 1911 gas rates.

City Argues Rates Fair.

It is the city's contention that the 1911 rates were fair and reasonable, even if the city had no power to prescribe them; and therefore that the company should make refunds as a condition of obtaining the injunction.

But first the decision of Judge Tarrison must be passed by the state Supreme court. His ruling, in the opinion of Attorney Cooke, "does not in any way change the situation that has heretofore existed in respect to refund claims." He added:

"The gas company will not have to refund a penny in consequence of the (Tarrison) decision, or do anything else that it is not now doing in the regular course of its business."

Even if the Supreme court affirms Judge Tarrison's decision and decides the legal questions involved against the company, the case will then come back to the circuit court for trial on the facts—on the reasonableness of the 1911 gas rates. The company is confident that it will be able to prove the unreasonableness of those rates and therefore the absence of any basis for refund claims.

That dark view for the gas consumers is brightened up by this statement of Corporation Counsel Busch:

"The principal legal question decided in favor of the city is this: The court holds that gas consumers are entitled to a refund—provided the rates fixed by the ordinance of 1911 are found to be just and reasonable—of the excess charges paid under the order of the Circuit court, regardless of the authority of the city to pass the ordinance fixing gas rates. The court bases its decision on this question on the ground that the company obtained an injunction against the city on the expressed condition that it would refund charges collected in excess of whatever should be determined were reasonable rates."

More Waiting Foreseen. The city predicts that the company will get its appeal to the Supreme court this fall and that there will be a decision on the legal points next February or April. If it is favorable to the city, then will come the hearing on rates, which involves a valuation of the property of the company. Then probably to the Supreme court again.

MADIGAN CASE WITNESSES TELL DIFFERENT TALES

Conflicting testimony by state's witnesses featured the first day's proceedings before Judge Emanuel Eller in the Criminal court, where Harry and John Madigan, Hugh McGovern, and John O'Brien are on trial, charged with assault to kill. The charges are the result of alleged irregularities during a primary on April 1, 1924, in Cicero.

James Rice, a precinct clerk, who was kidnaped and assaulted in a garage, where he was held prisoner until the polls closed, testified positively that the defendants were not the culprits.

On the other hand, Stanley A. Stanekovich, 1528 South 50th avenue, Cicero, who was a worker for an unsuccessful candidate and who was also kidnaped, positively identified O'Brien as the man who assaulted Rice, but was unable to give any evidence against the other defendants except to say that he saw them in the garage.

ARRESTED IN FATAL STABBING. John Erickson, 41, 1248 West Madison street, was fatally stabbed yesterday in a fight with Emil Koski following a moonshine party in the slain man's flat. Koski was arrested and identified by Erickson's wife as the one who had stabbed her husband.

Children Saved as Blind Resident Discovers Flames

(Picture on back page.) Several families were rescued yesterday as the result of quick action by Henry Driskell, blind, who smelled smoke in his home at 6254 South Albany avenue and turned in an alarm. The fire spread to houses on both sides and firemen carried a dozen children from the flames. As a result of the early alarm, no one was injured. About $2,500 damage was done.

BRENNAN PLEADS FOR PRINCIPLES ABOVE PARTIES

Vote Convictions, He Says in Radio Broadcast.

George E. Brennan, Democratic candidate for United States senator, outlined his beliefs and policies last night in a radio talk broadcast by WGN. His main plea was for the elimination of the party lines at the coming election. He urged that votes be cast because of principle and not because of party.

"As you all know, President Coolidge carried Illinois by a great plurality less than two years ago," he said. "If party lines were maintained it would be hopeless for any Democrat to be a candidate for United States senator this year."

Changing World in Politics. "But times and conditions change," he said. "The party lines of the past are no longer valid. When a vital principle is at stake party lines are forgotten. Let me cite an example."

"In 1920 the Republican ticket carried Cook county by an average plurality of 300,000. The pluralities of some candidates were more than 400,000."

"Relying on these pluralities, the Republican leaders then in power attempted to trifle with a principle—that of an impartial and nonpartisan judiciary. They nominated a judicial ticket for Cook county in 1921, upon which they placed their own favorites. They refused to renounce Republican judges of tried and approved service on the bench because those sitting judges were not their pliant puppets."

Cites Judicial Election. "These faithful Republican sitting judges who had been rejected by their own party organization were placed on the Democratic ticket and were re-elected. They were re-elected because the county that had gone Republican by 400,000 in November, 1920, went Democratic by 100,000 in June, 1921."

"This happened, not because a majority of the voters had suddenly ceased to be Republicans and had become Democrats, but because there was a principle at issue that impelled men and women to vote as citizens and not as Democratic and Republican partisans."

The speaker then told about his business affairs, saying that he has one of the largest insurance businesses in the country and none of it derived from politics. As to issues, he said he is against the world court and for federal legislation for the farmer.

Comes to Wet-Dry Issue. Then he came to the issue he terms most important. He spoke of the evils of prohibition and of the revolt in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. He concluded:

"The people of Illinois, I believe, are for a return to law and order. They want the government of the United States reestablished in the place of government by bootleggers, gunmen and corruptionists. They are for real temperance and liberty and against official and bureaucratic tyranny. They are for the preservation of the rights of the individual and the rights of the householder and against the invasion of their homes."

"They realize that my election as United States senator will bring about the things for which they stand. It will serve notice on congress that

UNCLE SAM PREDICTS BRIGHTER DAYS AHEAD FOR TILLER OF SOIL

Washington, D. C., June 30.—(Special.)—Indications are that the present year will be one of improvement in agricultural conditions, according to the department of agriculture.

"The stage is set for strong hog prices well into next year," says the department. "Prospects for wheat growers are moderately good, cattle are coming back in the west, and the dairy industry is picking up in the east."

Concerning agricultural prices, the department says that the crop season is along now where production reports will have a greater influence on prices. Cotton, wheat and potatoes show a tendency to lose a few points in unit exchange value while corn and hay have gained a point or two.

Among the representative animal products, hogs have moved from a purchasing power index of 94 a year ago to 107 and stand out as the strongest example of improvement in exchange position. The general index of purchasing power of farm products, in terms of non-agricultural commodities, dropped a point to 87 during May at which figure it has been substantially for nine months.

There must be a change—that the violent act must be repealed or modified.

"A return of the saloon is no part of my proposal. I am opposed to that. I stand for legislation that will permit the lawful manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. I am for temperance and against prohibition."

An Emergency Service for Motorists

When the Chicago Motor Club was organized twenty years ago the principal object was to prove to the public that the automobile was not a rich man's toy, that it was an economical means of transportation.

Hill climbs, economy tests, and reliability runs conducted by the club and by the American Automobile Association did much toward establishing the popularity of the automobile. These tests were also instrumental in moving manufacturers to build better and still better cars.

Today you get more value for every dollar spent for a car than at any other time in the history of the automobile.

But cars can never be built so substantially that they will not at some time get out of order. Broken wires, clogged gas lines, stuck starters, fouled points, broken axles and a host of other troubles may come to cause you annoyance.

The Chicago Motor Club, the organization that has grown up with the automobile industry, has supplied a service for you in such emergencies. This is the famous mechanical first aid and towing service of the club.

Irene Keese Montanya, Lincoln park commissioner, and three women companions escaped injury when the automobile in which they were riding, driven by Mrs. Montanya, plunged over a forty foot embankment at Madison street and Sheridan road, Waukegan, and crashed into a brick factory building. Mrs. Montanya lost control of the car. Miss Catherine Neuman, Mrs. Minnie Burns, and Mrs. Dora Wall, who were with her, were also unhurt.

Edward Kenefe, 27 years old, 542 Brompton place, drove an automobile into the rear of a truck at 16th and State streets, injuring the truck driver, John Toohey, 50 years old, 2321 South State street. Kenefe was driving a sedan owned by his sister, Mrs. Viola O'Banion, widow of the gang leader, Dean O'Banion. Kenefe was booked on charges of driving while intoxicated.

POLICE BULLETIN ASKS FOR SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

"Be strong for a safe Fourth—don't be a sorrowing victim of your own carelessness," says a police bulletin urging all citizens to celebrate sanely on the Fourth of July, issued by Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins last night. "Don't allow your children to play with fireworks," continues the warning. "Don't neglect the slightest burn caused by powder or explosives."

"Fireworks of all kinds, including the so-called harmless sparklers and colored lights, are prohibited in the city. Neighborhood displays may be conducted under proper safeguards and a city permit."

"A senseless Fourth is too often followed by a sightless and fingerless fifth. The Glorious Fourth too often becomes the gory Fourth. Automobiles should be extremely carefully handled; remember the holiday brings out thousands."

THE FIGHT ON CRIME.

Judge Kavanagh of the Superior court is a special student of crime conditions and of the administration of criminal law in the United States and elsewhere. Recently he made an address in New York City which deserves a wider attention. We can only give a brief summary, but we think Judge Kavanagh's frank comment upon the responsibility of lawyers and judges for reform is especially worthy of emphasis.

Many of the statistics given by Judge Kavanagh have been discussed in these columns, but they make a picture which cannot be held up to the public eye too often. He reminds us that while across the Canadian line there are 13 homicides for each million of the population, we have 100; that in England they have only 9 and in Germany before the war only 5. Even in Italy, regarded abroad as most inclined to private violence, there are only 16 homicides to the million. And we, enlightened, prosperous, kindly America, have 100. Judge Kavanagh further points out that in 1850 we were the most law-abiding people on earth, with only 7,000 persons in prison in a population of 23 millions; whereas now we have a prison population of 123,000. Our general population has increased 5 times, our prisoners 21 times.

Why this appalling situation? Judge Kavanagh believes, and we agree with him, that the chief reason is the ineffectiveness of our criminal administration. He shows that in Canada when a man is tempted to crime he is likely to realize that his chances of escaping punishment are small. In fact, the chances that he will be caught and punished are on the average 76 in the 100. A murderer in England or Wales has reason to know that he is very likely to pay the penalty on the gallows within six or seven weeks. In this country the man or woman who is tempted to kill can figure that the chances are 5 to 1 that he or she will not be arrested, 15 to 1 that he or she will never be convicted, and 100 to 1 that he or she will never die for the crime. In Germany before the war 95 per cent of the homicides were caught—and in the United States the percentage is 13.

Judge Kavanagh ascribes the deplorable weakness of our defenses against crime first to false sentiment in regard to punishment. "Enforcing the law," he reminds us, "means hurting somebody and we are the most tender-hearted people alive. On the day of the great crime, of course, we say: 'To Hell with the law, why don't they lynch him?' And three or four months afterwards somebody is sending flowers to his cell and by the time the case gets back from the Court of Appeals the first time, and it may come back several times, we are all ready to forgive and to forget."

To correct false sentiment and restore a logical attitude toward crime and punishment is a long task of education which many agencies must share, the church, the school, the press, but Judge Kavanagh passes on to other causes of criminality which ought to be removed with less difficulty. He asserts as his deliberate judgment that 85 per cent of the serious predatory crimes committed in America are by men who have been convicted before and who, through false clemency, have been discharged before they were either cured of criminal impulse or even properly punished. Undoubtedly our penal administration and parole or probation system need drastic correction in the interest of public safety. We have had revelations of the political abuse of the pardon and parole powers in Illinois which ought to sting us out of our indifference.

Next Judge Kavanagh protests against "foolish technicalities" which set criminals free and he has the courage and candor to place chief responsibility for our failure to reform the administration of the criminal law, which Chief Justice Taft has called "a disgrace to our civilization," upon the shoulders of his profession. "The lawyers will not reform the criminal laws nor [and this is the worst part of it] will they permit us to adequately reform the criminal procedural laws. They will put a rusty patch over a rusty hole." Judge Kavanagh points out that more than one-third of the legislators in the country are lawyers, and that this third probably represents nine-tenths of the actual influence because of the experience and skill in debate. This ought to insure intelligent and early action for law reform, but the opposite is true. We agree with Judge Kavanagh's high minded and candid assertion that the chief obstacle to overcome will be the opposition of the lawyers in the legislatures. "They are the members who will be the chief enemies of any adequate reform of the criminal law."

Wherefore Judge Kavanagh says: "I give you solemn warning that you will never get adequate relief in the amending of the criminal procedural laws unless you, the business men and the people generally, wake up to your responsibility and use your influence to obtain proper legislation."

In this TRIBUNE, which for years has emphasized the evils of predatory crime and the weakness of our administration of criminal justice, heartily concurs. The legal profession has been wakening to its responsibility for law reform, but selfish interest, prejudice, and inertia in the legislatures are powerful and cannot be overcome save by a powerful public opinion. Public spirited judges and the lawyers' association should lead the fight, but public opinion must back them. Our conditions are intolerable. They are by no means solely the result of the weaknesses of law enforcement, but these weaknesses are foremost among the causes and they are curable by concrete measures.

WISE WORDS FROM MICHIGAN.

In sharp contrast to the clangor of sophomoric logic and shoddy anthems which has characterized the opposition to the lakes to gulf waterway, there appeared recently in the Press of Grand Rapids, Mich., a very sane, very helpful editorial. Excerpts from this editorial, which was entitled "Lake Level Sanity," were reprinted in last Monday's TRIBUNE.

The position of the Press is both sound and courageous. It opposes an extreme diversion of water through the Chicago sanitary district canal, but it is sensible enough to discard that overworked bit of ballyhoo which calls the diversion "the Chicago steal." The Press has its feet on the ground. It does not approve of a flow of 10,000 cubic feet per second, but it does not, then, leap to the nonsensical opposite position taken by the opposing states in their Supreme court suit, demanding that the flow be stopped entirely.

Furthermore, the Press realizes what its kindred journals in the opposing states do not seem to comprehend, that the lakes to gulf waterway is not a Chicago project, nor an Illinois project, nor a project that will benefit only the Mississippi valley states, but a scheme of development calculated to bring new prosperity to the whole middle west, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota, and Indiana, as much as Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and Kentucky. In the words of the Press, are not the states opposed to the waterway cutting off their noses to spite their faces? They are allowing an illogically founded controversy over the Chicago diversion to interfere with an opportunity to obtain something that has, for years, been the goal of all midwestern states—a route to the sea.

The Press advocates a compromise—a compromise to be reached in congress, not in the Supreme court—which will, in the end, solve the problem, which will grant Chicago the water necessary to the disposal of its sewage and will permit a flow of water through the canal sufficient to make the creation of the waterway a practicable measure.

Could all other opponents of the waterway be brought to see the situation in the light that the Press sees it, short work could be made of the whole misunderstanding, and the dredges could start in digging.

POLITICS AND RESTORATION IN EUROPE.

Mr. George M. Reynolds, whose comment upon European conditions is always especially valuable since it is always frankly from the viewpoint of fundamental American interest, reports upon his return from a five months' trip abroad that he finds no real change. The game, he says, is played pretty much as it has been played—"on a political checkboard, with each nation trying to get something for itself." And he adds: "A trip abroad always leaves me profoundly grateful for my American citizenship. The situation in this country is so far superior to any European country as almost to forbid comparison."

In other words, solution of the great problems of economic restoration in Europe is still compromised and confused by merely political considerations. It is these which prevent obviously essential measures and especially the development of that cooperation on natural economic lines and across political boundaries which must be the basis of a new structure of prosperity. The forces which perverted the peace treaties are still in control of governments and peoples and they are not working toward a durable peace but for the perpetuation of the interminable maladjustments and recurrent clashes which weaken the productive efficiency of Europe, drain its wealth, and energy, and constantly threaten its peace.

American thought and policy should clearly recognize this controlling fact. It should govern our government's policies in foreign relations and our private coming into foreign securities, sometimes with the tacit, if not the explicit, encouragement of our government. We realize that we must assist in the rehabilitation of Europe, but our commitments should be well considered and safeguarded as far as possible. It is necessary, of course, to write off enormous amounts advanced to Europe, because it is impossible for our disorganized and encumbered debtors to pay back. But it is the duty of our government and of our financial leadership to put a check upon too ambitious political or financial involvements in so unstable a situation as Europe continues to be. Even from the viewpoint of international altruism, a wise restraint should help bring about desirable changes in the policies of the nations seeking aid from our coffers.

BOXING RULES ANNOUNCED.

(Peoria (Ill.) Transcript.)

Illinois is to have ten round boxing matches to a referee's decision. Immediately after the announcement of rules the commission let it be known that the first match in the state will be in Chicago on July 2. It is understood the boxers will be Sammy Mandell, the Rockford flash, and Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, world's lightweight champion. This first go, therefore, will be a championship contest for the benefit of a fraternal organization.

The Transcript has always believed that legalized boxing is a sport of men, and that prejudices against it were due to errors in understanding or fanatical dislike of all sensory pleasures. It is significant of popular temper that boxing has flourished in many cities in Illinois, despite legal ban against it. The new bill and the rules of the commission put it on the legitimate sport basis, and probably will make this state one of the popular boxing states in the nation if the fans behave themselves. The commission let it be known that the referee's decision portion of the rules will be allowed to stand only so long as the fans accept this method. Obviously, without decisions championship bouts are impossible. Consequently friends of boxing in the state who attend boxing matches will accept the action of the referee and will hesitate to criticize or complain if the decision is contrary to popular feeling.

The new boxing program in Illinois will be a test of the state's sportsmanship. Before the boxing bill passed the legislature there were few scandals in Illinois boxing circles. It remains to be seen whether those who enjoy the sport of the squared circle will be as decorous at legalized bouts as they were at the bootlegged scraps of the last few years.

The commission has done its share. If boxing is to survive it is up to the fans.

THE ART OF COUGHING.

SPENT yesterday visiting consumptives in a resort district in the southwest. None of these people was in a sanitarium. As has been the case so frequently before, I observed the sensible way in which they coughed. When the impulse came, they coughed quickly, raised the irritating sputum, discharged it into a cloth or paper, little noise, little effort, almost complete relaxation, no useless jerking or pounding of the lungs, no rasping of the vocal cords.

The time was when one could tell a sanitarium consumptive from the other kind by the way he coughed; not so now, at least in a resort region. It may be that all the consumptives in a resort region have been taught to cough in this manner, but I have seen consumptives have hemorrhages. In consequence, they had learned the art of coughing. They resisted the desire to cough uselessly. When there was something to be raised, they coughed, but in a restrained, relaxed fashion. They never got mad about it and tried to bring up their boots. And when sputum was raised, it was deposited in a safe place.

By contrast with this man on the sleeper, the consumptives that I saw had wisdom. They knew the danger. They knew about their damaged lungs and the danger to their throats. They had learned the art of coughing. They resisted the desire to cough uselessly. When there was something to be raised, they coughed, but in a restrained, relaxed fashion. They never got mad about it and tried to bring up their boots. And when sputum was raised, it was deposited in a safe place.

PAIN IN BACK.
Mrs. F. S. writes: Is a pain in the back a sign of kidney trouble?
REPLY:
It is not.

TRIP WOULD BE RISKY.
Mr. E. R. L. writes: I am now 55 months pregnant. I have enjoyed good health, good color, and was in good physical condition when examined last week. Would there be any injury to myself or danger to my child, if during the first part of my eighth month, I traveled to a distant state in a four cylinder car? We planned to travel in the daytime and camp at night.
REPLY:
I think that would be quite risky.

KEEP THE MILK COLD.
G. O. E. writes: Is it harmful to keep milk in a thermos bottle to feed a baby?
2. A friend told me it would harm the baby.
REPLY:
1. Yes, if you keep the milk warm.
2. No, if you keep it cold.

ARRESTS OUTSIDE THE CITY.

Beloit, Wis., June 25.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Has a constable in this town the right to go outside the city limits to arrest a person for violating the law? Does he not have to be a deputy sheriff or deputy constable, or the sheriff's office before he can make such an arrest?
G. B.

If the offense was committed in Beloit he can arrest elsewhere.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PIANO PRACTICE DISTURBS.

Chicago, June 25.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I own an apartment building on first street and a woman in the next building starts piano practice as early as 7 o'clock in the morning. The tenants have complained of her and once I wrote her a letter telling her that the noise disturbed my tenants. She stopped for a few days, but now she is practicing for about a month, but now she is at it as bad as ever. Is there anything in the laws which would forbid her making this disturbance?
H. F. B.

There is no express time limit in our statutes or ordinances, but noise amounting to legal nuisance can be enjoined or, if the facts amount to disorderly conduct, can be stopped by the police.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

OVERHANGING BRANCHES.

Chicago, June 25.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—There is a big tree in my neighbor's lot between his house and mine and one of its big branches, about 20 feet long, hangs directly over the roof of my house. When the wind blows this branch almost to the roof. I am afraid some day this branch will break and crush the house and perhaps kill one of us. Is there any way to compel them to cut this branch?
NEIGHBOR.

In general the remedy of a property owner who objects to an overhanging tree is to cut the limbs or branches at the lot line. Ordinarily it is not practicable to force the neighboring owner to do the trimming.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 1, 1961.

ST. LOUIS.—A dispatch to the Memphis Appeal says Leonidas Polk, Episcopal bishop of Louisiana, has been commissioned a brigadier general of the confederate army and assigned to a command in the northwestern part of Louisiana. The commission was received here. The convention resolved to name a committee to ask consent of the legislature for the confederate army and to receive a separate commission. The declaration of grievances states that the right of free speech has been obstructed by the disunion government; that citizens of that section have been subjected to insults, their houses rudely entered, their families insulted, and their women and children shot at by a merciless soldiery; and that their citizens have been robbed and assassinated.

WASHINGTON.—A special says that the rebel troops in Virginia are estimated at 50,000, of which 50,000 are armed and of which not more than 25,000 can be concentrated in any one place. There are now 15,000 at Mechanicsville and 3,000 at Norfolk. Beauregard's advance guard is encamped from Springfield to Fairfax Courthouse, mostly in the forests. The troops expect an attack daily from the federal army and are sleeping on their arms.

ST. LOUIS.—W. R. Stebbins, general agent of the Missouri and Western Telegraph line, reports rapid progress in constructing the line for 300 miles beyond Fort Kearney, and it is confidently expected the line will be completed to California by Dec. 1.

CHICAGO.—The fat horses of the fire department had abundant and healthy exercise when three fires occurred in a day, two of them in remote quarters of the city.

CHICAGO.—Police made a grand sweep of the dens and dance houses on the north side and 129 persons of both sexes were collected and taken to North Market hall.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 1, 1901.

CHICAGO.—The preliminary skirmishing of the annual Fourth of July celebration is in progress and physicians and hospitals are preparing to care for the wounded and the dying. The casualties of the event usually exceed a small battle. The record for last year was seventy-two killed and 2,791 injured. Of the killed 22 lived in Chicago and of the injured 75.

CHICAGO.—The weather bureau yesterday was the hottest June day in the history of the weather bureau. The mercury climbed up to 97 degrees on the auditorium tower at 3 p. m., and to the extraordinary temperature of 102 degrees on the street level. The hot southwest wind scorched the face and forced people to seek some nook in which they would be protected from the torrid breeze. Even Forecaster Cox, who usually faces all temperatures with calmness, balked at his own

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WE THINK we know every antique shop between New York and Marblehead, Mass. And we got an old Windsor, and some old pewter, a "Success to the Railroad" bottle, an old rug—and a man in New York showed us some very old Bourbon. The east is a great place for old things.

Maybe That Was It.

Dick: Honestly, now, how many crystal globes filled with amber cocktails does it take to make a traveler in Canada see a waiter on the Canadian Pacific open a bottle of sparkling Burgundy with a diamond or any other kind of corkscrew?
NOTHER DICKER HELEN.

Well, We'll Try It.

Dick: Ask some handshaking patriot in a casual way, "What were those machines they used in the war? Those armored cars, you know, with large guns mounted on the top? They would climb over trees, ditches, and break through barbed wire entanglements." What did they call them?
Inevitably, the patriotic handshaker will assume an expression of acute knowledge of things, and with an air of "Silly that you don't know THAT," he will answer, "Thanks!" And then you say, "Your welcome!"
POISON IVY.

TO COUNTEE CULLEN.

It matters not if your skin is dark
As the midnight jungle track,
I thrill to the beat of the song you sing
Feeling the torture and rack
That sunders the souls of your brother slaves
For hundreds of dead years back.
Under the march of your musical lines
Under the tread of their feet,
I hear the wind in the jungle pines
And the drone of the lo-m-to-m's beat
With ebon echoes under the sun
In the shimmering tropic heat.
Chance gave you the soul of a minstrel fair
Housed in a blacksmith's frame,
With your heart tuned high to the upper air
Though a sear of scorn and shame,
Refusing an outcast's usual lot
And turning it into fame!

THE FAUN.

ALL OF OUR Chicago contemporaries are terribly stirred up because Mrs. Cyrus McCormick Jr. upon her return from Europe, paid $7,000 for a special train to Chicago. Why did she do it? We know, Mrs. Cyrus Jr. remembered that just before she left home she had put the biscuits in the oven and forgotten to take 'em out.

THE DESERTED VILLAGE.

Dick: Don't call your vacation over until you come down to Lowell, Lowell, right down here in your own Illinois. You'll come out quite suddenly; there, beyond an ancient mill and a top of a great hill that looks down upon the fast waters of the Vermilion. About it, twisting little lanes that lead away from the commons to all manner of sylvan retreats. Lundy, brooding over the death of Lovejoy, once followed those lanes, Lincoln, peering out from the stage coach that picked it up from Bloomington to Ottawa, no doubt looked upon them and yearned for the rainbows at the end of them. . . . And in the village is an old wooden building that Lundy built-back in the days when State street was a wilderness.

It was in that building that Lundy published his newspaper. After his death his partner moved it to Chicago and sold it a few years later to an ambitious young newspaper man named Medill, who was just starting a hustling newspaper called the Tribune. Free, in those little wooden buildings down yonder at Lowell, the deserted village, is where sturdy, brave old Benjamin Lundy dreamed and worked and struggled. Lundy, who knew Garrison, Greeley, Whittier, and Browning, and only a very little ways up the road is the old poetry. As you stand and watch Bob and his magical wheel turn out Ettracan vases or mugs of great depths, Cliff Ward might tell you of the contents of the old houses—the Continental uniforms in the big attic, the faded commissions signed by Washington, comb-back Winders—and the old Wheaton house in which, it is said, lies hidden away a letter from Aaron Burr when he was kept away from the light. . . . and beyond the village, the burial ground of those New Englanders who wrote their names in terms of flat boats and over land trails to the never ending cry of "Westward Ho!"

Optimism.
Dick: I expect I've got a beautiful flower garden in China. The seeds I planted didn't come up this way.
HOWARD.

AND, ANYHOW, why waste time in New York if you have seven thousand dollars with which to buy a special train to Chicago? We've often felt, when we were in New York, that we would gladly pay seven thousand dollars to be in Chicago. It's worth it.

LOOKING FOR A POSITION.

To continue with this series of college life that I began last summer, I'll tell my experience on looking for a position. I answered an advertisement in the W. G. N. The interview went like this. He said: "Have you had any experience?" "No," I answered proudly. "I have a college education." He shouted at the top of his voice, "No college man will WORK for me." "No," I replied, "nor for anybody else." Another installment later.

We're just a little doubtful yet.

Oh, How Pleased Dear Albert Will Be!!

IOWA ON FARM RELIEF.

Fort Dodge, Ia., June 23.—Allow me to extend to J. W. Clancy my heartiest congratulations and felicitations for the splendid article he contributed to the "Voice of the People." His sentiments against Brookhartism convey the thoughts and feelings of the vast masses of people who are constructive in principle and sound of mind. His faith in Iowa is well founded. Our resources, both earthly and financial, are unlimited and our resident population of the highest caste and order. It is true that many of them are optimistically pessimistic, but why be pessimistic as so many of us now are, and listen to this uproar of calamity howling and agitation by a man of so destructive a tongue as Smith W. Brookhart? One thing is certain; we do lack "leadership" and material gain can never and will never be realized through processes of reasoning such as our beloved senators and legislators are now trying to apply as a relief or remedy for the agricultural situation.

Class legislation, price fixing measures, whatever they may term them to be, will not avail the farmer in a sense of permanent help. True constructive measures or laws usually pass both houses without much quibbling, and I am certain the day is near at hand when we will be benefited by government aid in furtherance of cooperative marketing. This plan, I am certain, will be approved and enacted by our bankers, leading businessmen and laymen. Why not a leader of the "Dolliver" type, one who is fearless, constructive, mentally alert to conditions of the day, who will build toward the realization of the people instead of tearing down, yes, down to the point of actual destruction and disaster.
C. D. THOMAS.

ON THE PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

Chicago, June 23.—There has been considerable publicity given to the protective tariff subject in connection with the farm bill. I am writing as one man among a great many who can relate his experience with 100 per cent and over protective tariff. This high protective tariff has assisted the large corporations such as the million and billion dollar "infant" industries which needed protection, but the poor small merchant got the same as the farmer did in his business. This wretched tariff has advanced pocket cutlery to such an extent that the American manufacturers got their prices so high that pocket cutlery quit selling, and two of three of the factories had to close up under this wonderfully brilliant high protective system. A HARDWARE DEALER.

INNOCENCE AN ALIBI.

Niles, Mich., June 23.—The pros and cons of the De Kalb atrocity have been a source of great interest to me. The fact that men and women can be at such variance over the imposed sentence rather bespeaks the inability of supposed level minded people to administer justice.

For the last eight years I have been much in contact with young women of eighteen to twenty-three years of age. In the capacity of dean my observation and experience with these girls has taught me much. I frankly believe many girls show great lack of discretion in their conduct. Few girls meet with these horrible situations without having previously been cautioned. My mother never alluded to such affairs, but she did instill in her three daughters womanly modesty. Whang situations did arise and I admit they might with any girl I knew when the barrier was trespassed. I grow weary of the alibi of innocence. The girl should be guided by the behavior of the man leading to one of those situations. "He who loveth danger shall perish therein." Being so-called smart eventually terminates sadly for all concerned, but most frequently for the girl. ANN E. MACK.

CITIES DIAGNOSED POLITICALLY FIT BY ECONOMISTS

Excel States and National Rule; Bryce Out of Date.

BY HARPER LEECH.

Iowa City, Ia., June 30.—[Special.]—Political doctors diagnosed the American city at the commonwealth conference today and the reports were on the whole cheerful. The old dictum of Lord Bryce that American municipal government is our greatest failure is said to be out of date.

Such has been the progress in recent decades that A. R. Hatton, Cleveland's professor of urban planning, has taken a leading part in the city manager movement throughout the country, declared that there were at least twenty large American cities governed today better than any state, and any one of the twenty is governed more economically and efficiently than the federal government is administering.

Cleveland's Dramatic Council. Dr. Hatton in explaining why Cleveland retained a rather large city council said that such a body was necessary to dramatize a city government. As a result of the composition of its council under proportional representation, personalities of different natures are included. This produces differences of opinion which bring public business into the open and make a council meeting such a good show that the newspapers give every meeting as much as a column because the news is worth it.

He admitted that proportional voting takes the element of personal rivalries out of elections, so that the dramatic values of such contests are lessened and the proportion of citizens' voting has declined in recent years. However, the much discussed apathy of the voters is primarily due to the same causes which have affected the popularity of amusement parks and league baseball.

Why Voting Is Often Neglected. With a more complex civilization, new interests and new amusements and activities competing for the relatively fixed amount of interest, the citizen has to bestow upon all of them, politics has felt the effect of competition and voting has declined. There was in the conference some sentiment to the effect that more number of voters is not so important.

Some speakers advanced the interesting idea that better government itself has been responsible for a decline of interest in elections. With the country prosperous and everybody satisfied that nothing is going very wrong, there is not the same interest in elections as prevailed in leaner years when government's relation to the dinner pail was more apparent.

It appears that our latest styles in city government, such as the manager plan, are really a reversion to the general plans of town government in America prior to 1820, when the Jacksonians began to demand elective mayor and city charters modeled on popular state constitutions.

More Law Abiding Than States. That many cities are now enforcing the laws, even those they don't like, better than the states was reported to the conference.

The morning session of the conference was devoted to county government. Some of the speeches gave the impression that a corner's inquest on the grand old shire was in progress. The American county is the "dark continent of American politics," according to some of the political scientists.

But others foresee a great future for the county with the growth of many municipalities, the spread of highways and decentralization of industry. Instead of shrinking the county will expand its functions and take over for a combined service to the whole community many jobs now done for themselves at great expense by little municipalities.

Prof. Frank G. Bates of Indiana university, who was reared in New England, said that he had been greatly impressed in the midwest by the value of county government, and that there was nothing which really would take its place.

LATINS CARRY EVERYTHING AT ARMS PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, June 30.—The French won out on practically all their naval and aerial viewpoints with the adoption today by the military subcommittee of proposals whereby the "ultimate" war strength is accepted as the basis for comparison of land armaments.

The aerial subcommittee already has reported that the total horsepower and total cubic meter capacity in the case of dirigibles should be the standard for the determination of various air forces. The naval committee, piecemeal, approved the various French viewpoints regarding total tonnage and the inacceptability of class categories in determining naval strengths.

The formal adoption of the various decisions was inevitable, inasmuch as the Latin bloc, in a showdown, forced by Americans, won, 11 to 3, with Japan, Germany, and the Argentine abstaining because it was useless to waste time recording their positions.

FRIENDSHIP OF U. S. AND FRANCE SECURE: GARY

Sees No Danger of Its Being Broken.

New York, June 30.—[Special.]—The spirit of friendliness between France and the United States remains strong and unbroken, despite "spoken or written words of real and abiding hostility," in the opinion of Elbert H. Gary.

Speaking at a luncheon to visiting French journalists at the Bankers' club today, the chairman of the United States Steel corporation declared that nothing has happened or is likely to happen that will cause the vast majority of the people of the United States to entertain feelings of animosity toward La Belle France.

Popular Feeling Friendly.

"In the United States persons of ability and good intentions have indulged in complimentary language toward the French administration of affairs," he said, "and sometimes leading Frenchmen have condemned the attitude of the American public. Even in the halls of the French parliament or the American congress words have been uttered on this subject that were harsh and unjustified. As a matter of course, the effect has not been good anywhere. Equitable adjustments have been prevented or delayed thereby."

150 Years of Amity.

"The fair and honest view to take concerning any words of real and abiding hostility, spoken or written, in either the United States or France against the other during the last one hundred and fifty years is that they did not and do not represent the sentiment of the rank and file of either country."

GIRL BATHER DROWNED.

Rhineland, Wis., June 28.—Helen Rycklock, 10, daughter of George Rycklock of Three Lakes, was drowned in Spirit lake yesterday. The girl, with several playmates, was bathing when she stepped into water and sank.

MRS. McCORMICK SAYS SHE CAME FOR A MEETING

But What Meeting She Refuses to Say.

Whatever speculation there may have been regarding the rush trip of Mrs. Cyrus McCormick Jr. from New York to Chicago in a special train that cost $7,000 and saved six hours was ended yesterday.

Mrs. McCormick gave a statement to the press after she had rejoined her husband who reached here yesterday. The statement read:

"Our steamer reached New York late which made us miss the usual connections for Chicago. I came on to an important meeting yesterday, which is now over.

"It did not occur to us when we arranged the trip that the nature of the journey might be of interest and curiosity to the press.

No interest to public.

"The ensuing sensational comment is out of all proportion to the facts. Except for the fact that the record seems to have been broken there was nothing of any possible interest to the public."

What the meeting was for which she came, Mrs. McCormick declined to say. Neither would she discuss her efforts to evade newspaper men nor her remaining incommunicado during all of the six hours for which she paid $7,000.

Mrs. McCormick Home.

Her husband, who is a son of the head of the International Harvester company, was equally reticent upon his arrival, although very affable. He was insistent, however, that Mrs. McCormick's $7,000 trip was neither due to illness nor to any family trouble or pending divorce action.

He went to his office and later Mrs. McCormick joined him there or perhaps telephoned to him, for it was from his office that the statement signed by Mrs. McCormick came. The statement, it was said, was considered as dropping the curtain on "the $7,000 mystery ride."

to illness nor to any family trouble or pending divorce action.

FOR Acid Stomach
PHILLIPS' Milk
of Magnesia

Instead of soda, hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

VILLAGE OF NILES CENTER

Gentlemen:

NILES CENTER is rapidly emerging from a village to Chicago's Greatest Suburb. Today it is ready for the greatest building era of any of Chicago's outlying districts. Already this village has done its part in a great measure—$6,000,000 in underground improvements having been authorized—a sum unheard of for any village of its size in this country.

As president of the village of NILES CENTER permit me to thank your association for the interest shown in our community and its development program.

Yours very truly,

Location and Improvements
Are Combining to Make

NILES CENTER
Chicago's Greatest Suburb

AN IDEAL location, with incomparable transportation, Greater Niles Center is completing $6,000,000 in underground improvements—a sum unheard of in any suburban development in the country. Property is now ready for building.

As Mayor Brown points out, the village is emerging into the most important realty enterprise Chicago has seen in its history. It is a veritable triangle of fortune, between the north shore towns and the Milwaukee avenue line of suburbs. Building is going on at a steady pace. One month alone showed $168,938 in building permits.

Building progress, location and transportation are rapidly advancing realty values, making the district a choice spot for investment and contributing to establish Niles Center as Chicago's Greatest Suburb.

CHARGES GEMMILL IS A COSTLY JUDGE

Edward H. Gore, president of the commission, yesterday sent a letter to Judge William N. Gemmill to support his charge that Judge Gemmill is unfit to be on the bench. This is letter No. 4 of the series which, began after Gore, in a speech, had said some of the things which were unit and Judge Gemmill returned this a cowardly statement and challenged him to name them.

The commission president had said the reversal by the State Supreme court of the conviction of Louis Russell before Judge Gemmill and the fact that he had repudiated that fact was a crook of that description were.

Facts Added Expense.
"What is at issue between us is not the guilt or innocence of Russell," Gore's new letter said, "but your own record for the office you hold. The result of your conduct in that office was to involve the county and the state in the expense of another trial and the expense of another conviction. A trial such as this, with the expense of $15,000 of the public funds and all there is to show for it is a waste of money and a burden on the people."

Show Gore's Jury Record.
In support of Judge Gemmill's statement that Gore has been dodging his service, the jury commissioners made public his record. It shows that in 1911 and in 1912 qualification blanks were ignored by Mr. Gore and in 1913 an attachment was issued for him. It then shows that he was called eight times without serving, and in March, 1918, served two days, while in 1924 he was foreman of the grand jury.

5,690 Wedding Licenses in June; Highest in 5 Years

More marriage licenses were issued last June than have been issued in any June in the last five years. It was reported yesterday. Five thousand six hundred and ninety licenses were issued, eighty more than in 1925. A high mark which has never been equaled was reached in 1920, when 5,739 permits to wed were issued.

The Railway Organization.

Although railway transportation is commonly thought of in terms of machinery, the human organization behind it is far more important than the mechanical instruments required in the production of service. The three human factors fundamental to railway service are patron, owner and employee. The first-named demands service, and the second and third produce it. Each puts something essential into railroad, and each gets—should get—something of equal value out of it.

The patron puts in his money by the payment of rates, and he deserves to receive in return the satisfactory transportation he must have in order to carry on existence under our modern civilization. The owner supplies the investment required to build and equip the railroad, and he deserves to receive in return dividends comparable to those which investments in other fields would yield him. The employee puts in the labor necessary to make the machinery provided by the owner produce transportation, and he deserves to receive in return fair wages and reasonable conditions under which to work.

The close interdependence of these factors is evident from the fact that the rates paid by the patron reward both the owner and the employee, the plant provided by the owner gives both service to the patron and the opportunity for employment to the employee, and the labor of the employee gives a going value to the plant of the owner and likewise renders service to the patron. All three factors are indispensable not only to the continuation of the service but likewise to the success of one another.

The link joining these three interests and actually operating the railroad—originally representative of the owners, but increasingly responsible to the patrons and the employees—is the railway management. With the government as final authority, it is the duty of the management to provide efficient service under proper working conditions, pay all operating expenses, taxes, rentals and interest on bonded indebtedness and still have something left for dividends and for investment in the property in order to expand for future needs.

Such conflict as has arisen among the three human factors interested in railway service has concerned itself mainly with the monetary items of rates, wages and dividends. There has been much less discussion of the things the money has paid for—the amount and quality of transportation, the adequacy and efficiency of equipment and the skill and willingness of labor—which is a good sign that the foundation of railway service is secure. In connection with the monetary items, it should be well to remember that the test at any time of what is high or low or what is reasonable or unreasonable in rates, wages and dividends is not necessarily a comparison among these items themselves, or a comparison of each with what has been paid before; the real test is the relationship these items bear to the current costs of other services and of commodities, to dividends in other lines of investment and to wages in other lines of work. A money payment is high or low only by such a test of contemporary comparison.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

ITALY WILL BOIL DOWN PRESS; BAR NEWS OF WORLD

Papers to Print Little but Fascist Items.

ROME, Italy, June 30.—(AP)—Revolutionary transformation of all Italian newspapers whereby nothing but the barest facts of domestic happenings and virtually no foreign news may be printed is the goal of the new Fascist economy plan, of which the cabinet's order, reducing all newspapers to not more than six pages, is the first step. This intention is announced almost unanimously by the Fascist newspapers in approving comments on the proposed changes. In addition to the elimination of detailed foreign correspondence, sport, art and literary news and accounts of court cases, particularly crimes, will gradually be dropped, the semi-official Tribuna declares.

We will have dry newspapers, restricted to the most essential comments, says Il Tevere, extreme Fascist organ, adding ironically: "Alas, we won't know whether the new sect of worshippers of tapeworms started on the banks of the Potomac; we will not be able to read the prose of the special correspondents in Pernambuco."

One Newspaper to a Province.

The impetus sees the cut in the size of newspapers as the work of a genius, declaring that journalism has become a scandalous waste of paper.

The Tribuna says Fascism desires faithfulness to fundamental central ideas, and brief, succinct basic considerations.

Discussing the newspapers outside large cities, Sig. Turati, secretary general of the Fascist party, said in the course of an interview, "Each province cannot have more than one newspaper, in which will be published the party orders, and the political acts of Fascism will be briefly illustrated. All the rest of the space will be devoted to things which are being constructed and work which is being carried out."

Dooms Personal Journalism.

Personal journalism, Sig. Turati declared, is doomed, and he asserted that the Fascist is determined to bring out the educational and moral aspect of the press.

"I am also determined," he continued, "to destroy the innumerable weeklies, which although dealing in national problems and spreading fundamental Fascist ideas, represent only the personal acidity and literary imitations of their editors. Some of our comrades have already set a good example by succumbing to their own creases. I will call for an order of the day following this example."

The secretary general concluded by remarking:

"We may have surprises to offer in this field."

Defends Longer Working Day.

The newspapers today hail the new simple life "decrees," which were entirely unexpected by the public, as another of Premier Mussolini's strokes, characteristic of his surprise at the opportune moment.

Answering objections concerning the increase of the normal working day from eight to nine hours, Popolo di Roma says it is preferable to use this method to prevent a possible economic crisis, while its subsequent serious unemployment, than to drift along aimlessly.

The paper says the increase in working hours is Fascism's answer to the dilemma, "whether to yield under pressure of the strong economic position of foreign nations, living miserably day to day on the edge of a precipice, or to unify our own energies, imposing upon ourselves privation and breaking the chains which are suffocating us and threatening to destroy our rebirth."

EX-PREMIER OF CANADA SCORES KING'S GOVERNOR

Sees Nation Reduced to Crown Colony.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
(Chicago Tribune From Service.)

Ottawa, Ont., June 30.—If the advice of a Canadian prime minister as to dissolution of parliament is not to be accepted by the governor general, Canada has descended from its status of a self-governing dominion to that of a crown colony.

This statement was made tonight by former Premier MacKenzie King in the Canadian commons, in the first criticism of a king's representative that has been made in parliament in nearly a century. Mr. King said his cabinet resigned two days ago after Gov. Gen. Byng refused to dissolve parliament.

Mr. King maintained the temporary ministry of Prime Minister Arthur Meighen was illegally constituted and could not legally perform a public act. He demanded an immediate election, and was shouted down by conservatives amid scenes of uproar.

Mr. King announced intention of holding up appropriation bills until the entire situation was straightened out by the governor general. He moved an immediate adjournment of the house to give the governor general time to consider the situation, but lost on the division.

Progressive members who had voted against the adjournment, also helped defeat a no confidence vote against Mr. Meighen by the constitutional issue and urged an adjournment on the government.

Members of the Conservative minority defended their position, denouncing Mr. King for bringing the governor general into the row. The house finally adjourned for the night, still deadlocked on the parliamentary situation.

"The government of which I am a member has military characteristics imposed by circumstances. It is not a militarist characteristics. It is, logically, have to act as a dictatorship. The parliament has temporarily ceased its functions and a certain number of constitutional dispositions are suspended. But we are not copying any dictatorship, model, either Spanish or Italian. We intend to carry out our own way. Portuguese government for the Portuguese people."

Referring to rumors of a monarchist restoration, the revolutionary leader said they are utterly unfounded.

NEW PAROLE LAW CAUSES PRISONER RUSH TO SING SING

New York, June 30.—[Special.]—Crooks, who ordinarily fight to keep out of Sing Sing, fought just as hard today to get into the prison. Lawyers rushed about the courts until a late hour tonight demanding that their clients be rushed off to Sing Sing at once—at least before midnight.

A new and stricter parole law became effective at midnight. All prisoners who started their terms before that hour were given the advantage of the old parole law, thus shortening their probable stays in Sing Sing by several months a year.

As a result of the rush of prisoners to plead guilty, the Tombs was about emptied tonight. The plea came so fast that officials were unable to say tonight just how many cases were handled.

PORTUGAL JOINS WAR OF THE DUCE ON DEMOCRACY

LISBON, June 30.—(AP)—The recent revolutionary movement in Portugal was directed principally against parliamentarism but is not sympathetic with the idea of a restoration of a monarchy, according to Gen. Manuel Gomes da Costa, present head of the government.

Gen. da Costa, who bore a leading part in the coup d'état of May 28, when the Cabecadas ministry was set up, and then ousted his fellow revolutionaries, Premier Cabecadas, on June 17, unquestionably is the most popular man in Portugal today. Despite his 60 years, he is erect, vigorous, and youthful.

The army, Gen. da Costa said, hopes to obtain the respect which is its due by carrying out useful functions in behalf of the nation instead of "serving as a puppet in the hands of politicians."

"The aim is to serve the country by rendering all the services in its power," he continued. "Its immediate ends are to put the house in order, to reestablish hierarchy where chaos reigns, and when that is done to give back the reins of public administration over the hands of the politicians."

"The separation will, naturally, be temporary. It will only last the time necessary for us to carry out the immediate task of putting things in their right place. The truth is that the parties had long ceased to exist. They were transformed into hungry clients, far more occupied in satisfying their own inordinate appetites than in making a united effort in behalf of the nation's welfare."

Special Songs for Listeners Roils Elmer

Only Smallest of Small Town Stuff.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Long drawn out announcing, nasal announcing, fanciful worded announcing, chatter by announcers, and the small town stuff of playing numbers for special listeners become real annoyances, especially with poor tubes, as was the case last night.

On this matter of playing numbers for special listeners, a theater audience of more than 100 would not stand for that sort of thing. Probably that's about the size certain radio announcers imagine their audience to be.

One high class local station was particularly guilty of this last night. Now, with a new tube! Henry Field, owner, announcer and director general of KFNZ, Shennandoah, 840, and staff of entertainers, at WLS, 840, a compliment for KFNZ, and one for WLS for giving us a chance to hear them at close range.

An individual note is always furnished when Theodore Kutz, cantor, is on the air—KWT, 8 to 9, last night. A close study reveals that this is one of the purest, therefore clearest, voices we have.

To be further critical, his limitations seem to be lack of variety in color and a tendency towards the staccato instead of the legato. The program by the Troubadours orchestra, WLIB, from New York, 8 to 9, and the following Arabian Nights orchestra program from the W-G-N studio, 9:30 to 10, were both excellent.

The main difficulty was that the first was an advertising program and the second was not. Therefore, we can take it that advertising programs are highly acceptable when properly presented.

FASCISTS TRY TO CHANGE GERMAN FLAG TO BLACK

(Chicago Tribune From Service.)

BERLIN, June 30.—German Fascists today introduced into the Reichstag a motion that "for the period of the Versailles treaty, the flag of the German empire be black."

The motion, which received scanty consideration, was the result of yesterday's decision at Geneva touching the size of Germany's army.

The Tagliche Rundschau, organ of the foreign office, remarks that "the events at Geneva show only too clearly that the work of the disarmament commission will be a comedy of deception and deceit, which, unfortunately, will not be without effect on those nations who really want peace."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, organ of the industrialists, says: "The work of the disarmament commission shows that France has her vassals well in hand."

Wild scenes featured the reopening debate this afternoon when the compromise bill on expropriation of princely properties came up for second reading. A communist deputy was called to order by the president for raising a staccato for calling the former Kaiser a miserable, cowardly fellow who fled to Holland, and declaring that President von Hindenburg had broken his word in cowardly fashion. Cries and catcalls disturbed the debate for some minutes.

SEIZE YOUTHS AS THIEVES, IN AUTO OF PRETTY GIRL

In an automobile driven by Alice Brazier, 24 years old, pretty beauty parlor operator, who won a beauty prize in a local contest two years ago, three young men yesterday committed three holdups and were attempting to rob a restaurant when arrested by Blue Island police.

The girl said she knew nothing of the holdups. Her companions, Earl Cramer, 19 years old, George Norton, 22 years old, and William Widdleton, 22 years old, confessed that they had robbed three men of amounts varying from $40 to $80. All three live in Harvey.

Reports of the robberies reached police and they found the youths in a Blue Island restaurant.

GIRL BRIDE HELD WITH HUSBAND FOR EXTORTION

New York, June 30.—(Special.)—A flapper wife and her husband of less than four weeks were arraigned in West Side court today, charged with having extorted more than $20,000 from Frederick Hazard, wealthy tax accountant.

The bride, Gertrude Fomach, 24, was said by the police to have signed a confession in which she laid the blame on her husband, Ernest, 29, to whom she was married in Hollywood, Cal., on June 3.

Fomach "passed the buck" to her bride, denying vehemently that he had had a share in the letter writing and subsequent meetings which are alleged to have yielded the $20,000 ransom. Nevertheless both were held for examination. The magistrate held them in $10,000 bail each.

The girl said she knew nothing of the holdups. Her companions, Earl Cramer, 19 years old, George Norton, 22 years old, and William Widdleton, 22 years old, confessed that they had robbed three men of amounts varying from $40 to $80. All three live in Harvey.

SWEDISH FOREST TEACHES LOWDEN LESSON FOR U. S.

Finds Every Acre Cared For Like Farms.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)

STOCKHOLM, June 30.—Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, and his party arrived at Stockholm after a two-day automobile trip from Halmstad, through what Mr. Lowden describes as the most beautiful country in the world. He particularly was impressed by the excellence of Swedish forestry and forest conservation, which he intends to make a study while in Stockholm, as legislative and practical forestry experts.

Mr. Lowden is anxious to discover methods which may be suitable in the United States, and especially how the government enforces conservation and reforestation. For miles today and yesterday we rolled through dense forests, the finest forests in the world, chiefly pines of various varieties, beech, and birch.

Every Tree Replaced.

Every acre evidently is as carefully tended as the finest farm land, and it is evident that not a yard of forest land is wasted. Wherever trees had been cut down, young plantations were being along and it was possible to see from the cars every stage of forest growth, from the seedlings to the magnificent trees.

"Think what this country would be like if it had been as careful as ours in dealing with its forest resources," Mr. Lowden said. "It's just awful, the waste of pine barrens, such as are seen in many parts of the United States. Land is stripped bare and destroyed, and is no good for anything. I am deeply impressed with the way the Swedes have solved their forest problem, and I am informed forestry is one of their greatest national industries. By a system of small farms in forest tracts, Sweden keeps a constant supply of high class labor for both forests and farms. The men work in the forests for cash, and raise their own food on the farms."

England Rises Farm Neglect.

"What I want to find out is how it is done, and whether these methods do not teach a valuable lesson to the United States. It is all a part of the general agricultural problem which now is so pressing."

In the life of every nation comes a time when agriculture becomes a problem demanding solution. Else the nation goes down. We are at that stage today, and I know that many farmers in America believe we should follow the English policy of neglecting agriculture and fostering industry, relying on the belief that the world will always supply us with cheap food. They are wrong. England now is sorry she neglected agriculture and is trying to get back to healthy agriculture. It may be too late for her, but it is not too late for us to arrest the decay. It is our national duty to do so."

Mr. Lowden intends to stay three or four days in Stockholm, after which he will go by boat through the Gotha canal to Gothenburg.

Visits Husband's Grave, Then Attempts Suicide

Grief over the death of her husband, Fred, seven months ago, is believed to have preyed on her mind, causing Mrs. Anna Miller, 6343 Ellis avenue, yesterday to go to his grave in Calvary cemetery and then attempt suicide by jumping in the lake nearby. She was rescued by Paul Corbett of the coast guard and taken to St. Francis' hospital in Evanston, where it was said last night she will recover.

PRINCE FORGIVES FAMILY OF MAN WHO SOUGHT LIFE

TOKIO, June 30.—(AP)—The family of Daisuke Namba, young Japanese who was hanged for attempting to assassinate Prince Regent Hirohito in December, 1923, has emerged from its "humiliation retirement" upon the express order of the prince himself. Prince Hirohito recently made an inspection tour of western Japan, including Yamaguchi prefecture, in which the Nambas live. The prefectural governor told him of the family's self-imposed ostracism, designed to expiate the son's offense. The prince instructed the governor to carry a message to Masataro Namba, Daisuke's elder brother and head of the household, that he desired the Nambas thenceforth to lead normal lives and conduct themselves as loyal subjects.

Great rejoicing in the household greeted the prince's message. The gates were opened, the blinds raised, and a feast was held. With imperial permission, the ancestral name has legally been changed to Kurokawa.

SOLD LIQUOR AT LEGION MEETING; 8 SENT TO JAIL

Omaha, Neb., June 30.—(AP)—Attorneys for the eight men today sentenced to three months in jail and given fines of $500 for operation of the Gay Paree resort during the American Legion national convention last fall were preparing appeals to be filed within thirty days allowed by the court.

Meanwhile, the defendants were free under $1,500 bond each. They were convicted of operating a nuisance.

A torrid attack on the defendants was delivered in court today by Elmer Thomas, legal adviser to Glenn Brunson, district dry administrator, in reply to a plea of William Gurley of defense counsel for leniency.

"This is the most flagrant violation of the law since the riot when men were hanged," Thomas declared. He referred to Omaha's race riots of 1919. "They did it for financial gain and there is no reason why there should be leniency. They ought to be stood against a wall and given the severest sentence possible, to show them they can't trifle with the laws of the United States government and get away with it."

ASK U. S. SENATE O. K. ON LAKES TO GULF WATERWAY

Appeal to the United States senate was voted last night by the representatives of 13 Illinois and Indiana chambers of commerce, meeting at East Chicago, Ind. Without dissent, 150 persons adopted resolutions asking approval of the Illinois link in the lakes to the gulf waterway before congress adjourns.

The house is to adjourn Saturday and the senate, before which the waterway measure is pending, as part of the omnibus appropriation bill for rivers and harbors, will adjourn as soon as possible.

The resolutions point out that the water diversion for the Chicago drainage canal, which has been under the heavy attack, is a minor matter in the question of the level of the great lakes. Benefits to come from the lakes to the gulf waterway are called the essential thing to consider.

SALESMAN DIES SUDDENLY.

Heart disease is believed to have killed Samuel Sprink, 28, insurance salesman, of 3304 Beach avenue, who was found dead yesterday in a room in the Morrison hotel.

CONGRESS READY TO CLOSE SHOP NEXT SATURDAY

Washington, D. C., June 30.—(Special.)—Adjournment of congress on Saturday became a certainty today when the senate entered into a unanimous consent agreement for the consideration of rivers and harbors legislation next December.

As soon as this agreement was reached the house ways and means committee voted to report favorably a joint resolution for sine die adjournment at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The adjournment resolution will be approved in the house tomorrow.

Final action in the senate will be deferred until the deficiency appropriation bill is out of the way. The deficiency bill, which was passed yesterday by the house, was reported to the senate from the senate appropriations committee this afternoon, and will be passed tomorrow. Another day may be required for the approval of a conference report.

WHEELER ASKS SENATE TO PROBE TWO SECRETARIES

Washington, D. C., June 30.—(Special.)—Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.) introduced in the senate today a resolution proposing an investigation of the relations between Secretaries Hoover and Jardine with the defunct Grain Marketing company of Chicago and of Mr. Jardine with the Roundup School of Price Forecasting, also of Chicago.

This move grows out of the charges made by Mr. Wheeler in the senate yesterday that the Fess farm relief bill was a scheme to revive the grain marketing company, a concern endorsed by Hoover and Jardine, with a government loan of $25,000,000, granted by a board of which Hoover and Jardine, the senator asserted, would be members.

By a vote of 156 to 77 the house today concurred in senate amendments to the administration cooperation marketing bill and the measure now goes to the President.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

What is a Real Tire Test?

Among the searching tests made on United States Tires is the "Tread Wear Test" which duplicates in a few days the effect of many months of service.

United States Tires are under continual test in our laboratories and on our road test vehicles. Motorcoach tires, for example, are tested under actual service conditions on this United States Rubber Company Test Coach.

Questions and Answers that may be News to You— By a Tire Engineer of the United States Rubber Company

Question—With 20,000,000 cars running in America, does not the experience of users largely take the place of factory tests?

Answer—On the contrary. The very fact that motor transportation is so important in the life of every one imposes an additional obligation for searching tests on the tire manufacturer. The makers of United States Tires do not expect their customers to test their tires for them.

Question—What does the United States Rubber Company Factory Test include?

Answer—Everything from the Tree to the finished Tire. Raw materials are tested before they go into the tires, and the finished tires are tested in the Company's laboratories and on the Company's road test cars, trucks and buses. They are also watched in actual commercial service.

Question—What do these tests prove?

Answer—The material tests insure the quality of material used. The laboratory and road tests of complete tires "prove up" the correctness of manufacturing processes.

Question—What raw materials are tested?

Answer—Cotton cord, which furnishes the strength and flexibility of the tire; rubber, which binds the various parts of the tire together and forms the tread or wearing surface; compounding ingredients, which we mix with the rubber to give it the necessary qualities; and, steel wire, which is used in making the beads of the tire.

Question—What tests are made on the cord?

Answer—Cord going into the manufacture of Web Cord for United States Tires is tested for strength, stretch, size, twist, ply, length of staple, and freedom from imperfections.

Question—What tests are made on Rubber?

Answer—Even though the quality and uniformity of Sprayed Rubber is controlled by the processes used on our plantations in the Far East, every shipment received at our factories is again tested for uniformity and also, after mixing with sulphur, it is tested for its rate of vulcanization, its tensile strength and stretch.

Question—What tests are made of compounding ingredients?

Answer—Compounding ingredients are tested to determine their purity and uniformity. They are practically all in powder form and even the degree of fineness to which they have been ground is tested.

Question—What tests are made on Steel Wire?

Answer—Steel wire is given a chemical analysis to determine whether it meets our specifications, and it is also tested for tensile strength and elongation.

Question—Are United States Tires tested along-side of other makes?

Answer—Yes. These tests are conducted daily in our laboratories and on our road test vehicles.

Question—What is the object of these competitive tests?

Answer—To maintain the superiority of our design and construction.

Question—Does the fact that a large number of tires of a certain design and construction have given satisfactory service oblate the necessity for further tests on tires of the same kind?

Answer—No. Vehicle design and use, and road conditions are constantly changing. Tires that gave excellent satisfaction ten years ago are obsolete today in design and construction.

Question—How does the United States Rubber Company keep abreast of these constantly changing conditions?

Answer—It has a corps of factory trained technical experts in different sections of the country, continually checking the service our tires are rendering under actual operating conditions.

Question—Do all companies test their tires in this way?

Answer—Most all companies make tests of some sort. Very few, if any, carry them to the extent that they are carried by the United States Rubber Company.

SHORT COVERING ADVANCES WHEAT AFTER EARLY SAG

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While wheat was weaker and lower early on selling induced by the defeat of the Fess bill, favorable weather in the southwest and unexpected decline of the break in Liverpool offerings on the break were absorbed by strong commission houses and with short covering an advance of 1 1/2¢ to 2¢ from the inside figure took place. The finish was at net gains of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢, with July 1926 at $1.22 1/2, September 1926 at $1.23 1/2, and December 1926 at $1.24 1/2. Nearby deliveries sold at a new low on the present movement early with July touching $1.20 1/2, but it was up to $1.21 1/2 later.

Drastic liquidation developed in July corn and it went to 7 1/2¢ under September, the widest spread at this season on record, and closed at the bottom at 7 1/2¢, while December was 7 1/2¢ to 7 3/4¢. Net losses for the day were 1 1/2¢ to 2¢. Net losses for the day were 1 1/2¢ to 2¢. Net losses for the day were 1 1/2¢ to 2¢.

Good Buying in Wheat.
There was a good class of commission house buying in wheat, especially the September and December, while shorts bought July freely. There was heavy changing on between the various deliveries with long in July selling at 7 1/2¢ to 7 3/4¢, and shorts buying at 7 1/2¢ to 7 3/4¢.

Country offerings of wheat from Illinois were somewhat larger, with purchases finally estimated at 200,000 bu. but in the southwest farmers showed a decided disposition to hold for higher prices, and there was a material letup in pressure at Gulf. Export demand was less active with sales finally estimated at 200,000 bu. Cash premiums here were firm, and at Kansas City to be higher, the latter being a surprise to the trade. Showers were forecasted for the northwest.

Liquidation in Corn.
Prospects of heavy deliveries of corn on July contracts with disquieting reports as to the condition of the grain in store induced liquidation by long in July corn and it dropped to 6 1/2¢, a new low on the crop, and closed there. A local operator was credited with buying July and selling December at 8¢ difference to close spreads, but support throughout the day was lacking.

A leading local house sent out an announcement that it would take in and pay for corn on July delivery only on a 3¢ per bu margin basis. The trade expects that private reports will make a rather bullish showing on the new crop. Eastern demand was somewhat better with shipping sales of 160,000 bu.

Liquidation in July oats carried that delivery off sharply and it closed 2¢ under the September. A good part of the trade was in changing over from July to the deferred deliveries. Houses with northwestern connections sold rye, which offered strength in wheat, indications of export business and cable saying Italy would order mills to mix 15 per cent of rye or barley in wheat flour.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Foreign demand for cash wheat was only fair, with sales finally estimated at 300,000 bu. with trade out down by a decided falling in the Fess bill, favorable weather in the southwest and unexpected decline of the break in Liverpool offerings on the break were absorbed by strong commission houses and with short covering an advance of 1 1/2¢ to 2¢ from the inside figure took place. The finish was at net gains of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢, with July 1926 at $1.22 1/2, September 1926 at $1.23 1/2, and December 1926 at $1.24 1/2.

Chicago handlers sold 20,000 bu. wheat, 100,000 bu. corn, and 204,000 bu. oats to the domestic trade, with 200,000 bu. oats to export. Chartered for 100,000 bu. wheat, 100,000 bu. corn, and 204,000 bu. oats to the domestic trade, with 200,000 bu. oats to export.

Only one car of cash wheat was reported sold here, the bulk of the arrivals going direct to mills from the southwest. No. 2 red brought 2 1/2¢ over July, the basis showing little change. At Kansas City hard winters were in active demand, and 1 1/2¢ higher as compared with the future, with ordinary No. 1 hard sold at 5 1/2¢ over, and high protein at 1 1/2¢ over July. Quotations in price table.

Kansas City are for new wheat only. At Minneapolis spring wheat premiums have declined 3 1/2¢ in the last two days, with demand slow. Considerable winter wheat is being received there.

Offerings of cash corn were not large and premiums here were 1/4¢ higher, with No. 2 grades 2 1/2¢ over, No. 3 grades 1 1/2¢ over, and No. 4 grades 1 1/2¢ over. Outside markets were 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢ higher.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Wednesday: Wheat, 72,000 bu.; corn, 14,000 bu.; oats, 28,000 bu.; rye, 2,000 bu.; barley, 4,000 bu. Receipts of grain at Chicago Wednesday: Wheat, 72,000 bu.; corn, 14,000 bu.; oats, 28,000 bu.; rye, 2,000 bu.; barley, 4,000 bu.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The Chicago Board of Trade will be closed Saturday, July 3, and Monday, July 5. Winnipeg will be closed today, Dominion day, and will be open Saturday and Monday. St. Louis and Kansas City exchanges probably will be open Saturday.

The impression of the wheat trade is that the market is a sale on all sharp bulges unless there is a decided reduction in the southwestern movement. This seems possible, as indicated by advices from Wichita that farmers are showing more of a holding disposition. Bullish news from the northwest is expected and was a feature in strengthening September and sending it to 4¢ over July at the last.

It was said that a large line of short wheat put out a few days ago was taken in on yesterday's break. It was for a local operator.

July deliveries of cash wheat today are expected to be light and of rye liberal. On corn estimates are for 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 bu.; oats, 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bu.

There is said to be a liberal shortage in July wheat in Liverpool on the part of American traders. July in Liverpool was 32 1/2¢ over the same delivery in Chicago yesterday, and it is said some of the shorts are preparing to ship wheat from America to fill their Liverpool sales.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

White Sauce Ice Cream.

Everything is grist that comes to my mill. On the morning train recently I was talking with a woman of privilege and of the most human type of philanthropies and she told me about the ice cream they preferred at their summer home where eggs and cream were hard to get. And, besides, she said, she found heavy creams cloying. Whipped creams with sweet things may be frightfully so. She also thought children were better off without them; but that depends, it seems to me. Since they contain vitamin A and are pure energy foods they are surely invaluable for children when used in the right way.

But when there is any cream to be had it seems they always add it to the white sauce foundation and egg yolks, as well. The white sauce is made the day before. Just why I do not know, because it would seem that the only thing needful is that it be cold or even well chilled before it is frozen. The amount of sugar to sweeten it she did not mention, but she did say that they used fruit in it, and how ever they made it people liked to come and taste their ice cream, while a family of sixteen or so enjoy it and often.

We have not tested this recipe yet, but shall. In the meantime we should be delighted if readers would do the same, and tell us how they come out.

In fact, a symposium on ice cream might be interesting, for it is an invaluable dessert, which has been greatly abused, and flour, beside being less expensive than gelatin, if well cooked with the milk, is something we nearly always have on hand. By using a brown sugar syrup for the sweetening and a few chopped raisins, with diluted canned milk, we have been able to get an ice cream minus the characteristic flavor of this milk.

and perhaps if the diluted milk was used for the white sauce, and then had those additions, another convenient way of making ice cream might be in our summer repertoire.

Such as we object to the word "new," as regards recipes, we believe there might be something new in this, but the dairyman, progressive dairyman who produce clean milk don't want him as a competitor.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Scientists have worked out a simple test to be used in determining the purity of milk. It is put into general use in the Chicago territory the dairyman who is producing dirty milk will have to sell his herd and go into some other business. Fancy, expensive cattle and barns that resemble palaces are not necessary in the production of wholesome milk. Clean, healthy cows, clean milkers and utensils, and a place to cool milk immediately after it is drawn are all that are needed to produce pure milk. Within a few years there isn't going to be room for the careless dairyman; progressive dairymen who produce clean milk don't want him as a competitor.

The methylene blue test will be of particular value to health officers in small towns and cities where big laboratories and trained men are lacking. A bottle of methylene blue tablets, a few test tubes, and a place to keep the milk samples at a constant temperature of 38 degrees Fahrenheit is about all that is needed to make the test and single out the dairymen who are delivering impure milk with a high bacterial count. The blue color is lost in ten to twenty minutes in milk heavily loaded with germs, while clean, fresh milk will retain the color for a half day or longer.

Hastings and Mansfield tell how to make the test in a new circular, No. 204, just issued by the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

This image is a vertical, high-contrast, black and white scan. It depicts a textured surface, likely the cover of an old book or a piece of aged paper. The texture is characterized by numerous fine, vertical lines and a grainy appearance. On the right side, there is a dark, irregular shape that appears to be a shadow or a part of the object being scanned. The overall image is very dark and has a high level of contrast.
